Beautiful skin is all about antioxidants according to Dr. Debbie Palmer, a leading dermatologist and antioxidant expert. A firm believer in free radical damage causing skin aging and antioxidants being key in preventing this, Dr. Palmer created REPLERE®, one of the most potent antioxidant skincare lines on the market. REPLERE(<http://replere.com/>) antioxidant formulas are clinically proven to stop aging and restore the skin's natural radiance.

The key ingredient to the REPLERE(<http://replere.com/>) product line is Coffea arabica extract, the un-ripened fruit of the coffee plant which is one of the top sources of antioxidants and outperforms most other antioxidants. Additional potent ingredients include pine bark, goji and acai berries, grapeseed, pomegranate, green tea and vitamins A, C & E. This exclusive blend of antioxidants neutralizes age-accelerating free radicals and therefore slows down the aging of the skin. REPLERE also contains a mix of other top anti-aging ingredients to rejuvenate and restore the skin. These include exfoliating glycolic, salicylic and azelaic acids, and hydrating hyaluronic acid.

“I developed REPLERE(<http://replere.com/>) as a collection of repair products for your skin,” says Dr. Palmer. “They are designed to be applied to the skin first, under your moisturizer, and in weeks they will make a visible difference in the overall appearance of your skin.” In a 12-week clinical trial, 100% of participants using REPLERE showed an improvement in the softness of their skin. Over 80% of participants showed improvement in wrinkles around the eye, overall brightness and more even skin tone.

REPLERE(<http://replere.com/>) crème formulas are packaged in airless containers to avoid decreased potency from air exposure and bacterial contamination that can occur with daily use. REPLERE is also paraben, fragrance and dye free.

Our editors have been trying out these items and we can already see a difference in our skin:
